

Dots on Tots Review # Holiday Gift Guide

Posted on November 12, 2013

Dots on Tots is a company striving to provide high quality organic cotton hats for babies and toddlers. Skin sensitivities are becoming more and more common among babies. By using organic materials, babies' skin can be protected and parents can have peace of mind. Dots on Tots features innovative hat designs for girls and boys all made from natural, certified-organic cotton. They specialize in ear flap hats to protect babies from outdoor elements such as cold and wind, as well as providing protection from ear, nose, and throat infections.

Needless to say I was THRILLED when I received the Dots on Tots Baby and Toddler Ear Protection Organic Cotton Hat. The hat is a perfect weight for cold weather or for just a really windy day. The Ear Protection Hat comes in sizes small, medium and large which fit infants all the way to a three year old and they come in white, pink, natural and blue.

I received the large white hat and I was able to give to my friend for her infant granddaughter, living in NJ can get really cold and her being born a premi she needs all the protection she can get. The soft ear flaps connect under the chin with a small piece of Velcro. There will be no need to worry about the hat falling off, because it is very secure on their head.

The brand also offers special ear protection hats that feature an added benefit of 50% noise-reduction ear inserts, shielding infants and toddlers' delicate ears from loud sounds. All hats are 100% organic, eco-friendly and made in the USA.

The Dots for Tots founder, Olivia Entin, is a mother of two with a master's degree in fashion and has a few tips to stay healthy this fall.

- Safety First! Equip children with a small, backpack-friendly emergency kit in case of any scrapes, bumps or unexpected cuts on the playground. Although the nurse is close by, having small supplies handy at all times, such as a kit with fun, colorful bandaids, hand sanitizer and sun tan lotion will allow children to remain safe no matter where they are.
- Keep children protected from day 1! Whether your child is a first-timer at school or a seasoned classroom attendant, entry into a new classroom, lunch room or school bus can still cause allergic reactions in children. To keep children safe and comfortable, outfit them in products that will keep them safe, such as organic materials.
- Run down the checklist the night before! Do they have everything packed? What are they wearing to school today? As much as sending your child off to school can be a stressful process, going to a new place without mom, dad or siblings can also be scary for them. Talking to your child about fears/excitements and packing up their materials with them the night before will help them (and you!) know that they are prepared to take on the school year with their best foot forward.
- Make check-in's a game to ensure child's health and safety! We all know children love games, and parents love ensuring children are safe when out of sight, so combining these two ideals will make everyone at ease! Check in periodically with your children on how the school year is progressing – are they enjoying their classes? What kinds of foods are they eating? Are they feeling headaches, allergies/sneezing in the cafeteria or classroom? Some great ways to make this into a game setting are having them draw pictures of their day or rating aspects of their day on a scale using foods they love or toys. This way, you can check in with your child and make sure they're keeping in check with their happiness and health.

Visit them at www.dotsontots.com

Recommended for you

Petflow Spoiled Rotten
Cat Box Review

Tummy Calm Review

What is this?

Don't be selfish...

This entry was posted in Uncategorized by NancyR. Bookmark the permalink [<http://thingsthatmakepeoplegoaww.com/dots-tots-review/>].