Dots on Tots Review

October 16th, 2013

About Them: Dots on Tots is gaining popularity among parenting and health media as followers are educated on the sensitivities of young children and the impact a quality, organic products can have on their overall health. Olivia Entin made it her mission to ensure all products are ideal and safe for children, as all products are created with low-impact dyes, eco-friendly, breathable, irritant-free fabric, and manufactured right here in the USA.

Dots on Tots

Dots on Tots sent me a cute hat for toddlers to wear when they are out and about. Great for the colder days and wraps around the ears and Velcro's on the bottom. This hat and all the other styles on the site offer wide variety for age and in design. These are a soft like cotton material, very thick made, so you will stay warm, great for park days and out and about when traveling in cold weather. They are simple and stylish so kids will love them and feel warm in the ears. We live in such a cold state we always have to bundle and the head is usually the one that gets left behind because hoods don't stay on. This Velcros on so it wont budge or fall of which is pretty handy. Plus babies wont be able to pull it off to. Washes great, comes out as is, doesn't shrink (we wash on cold) and just throw in the diaper bag or purse when you're in need of it. They also come to you in a nice cardboard box wrapped in tissue, I always love unboxing from tissue!
